

AES 21st International Conference
Architectural Acoustics & Sound Reinforcement
St. Petersburg, Russia, June 1-3, 2002

INTRODUCTION

Recent developments in digital signal processing have lead to new approaches for architectural acoustics and sound reinforcement systems. Solving the complex problems of sound image simulation, transmission, and reproduction requires familiarity with numerous audio techniques: simulation, auralization, adaptive digital signal processing, analysis of subjective criteria of audio-visual images, perception, features of transferring and recording three-dimensional images, equipment characteristics, and evaluation. The AES 21st International Conference will cover all of these topics.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The AES 21st International Conference on Architectural Acoustics & Sound Reinforcement will be the first AES event ever held in Russia. The conference will be held on 1-3 June 2002 at the Moscow Hotel in St. Petersburg. The conference will provide a forum for presentation and discussion of cutting-edge technology and current thought in the fields of architectural acoustics and sound reinforcement.

Participants are encouraged to arrive in St. Petersburg some days before and to stay some days after the conference, taking into account that pre- and post-conference social events at additional cost are planned.

CITY OF ST PETERSBURG

St. Petersburg was the capital of the Russian Empire for over 200 years, from 1703-1917. The city is home to five million people and some of the world's most valuable art treasures, and it is truly a work of art itself. St. Petersburg was founded by Peter the Great on a series of islands at the eastern end of the Gulf of Finland and is sometimes known as the "Venice of the North". Its more than 50 museums and 40 theaters ensure that art, ballet, music, and theater lovers will find the metropolis an endless source of cultural enjoyment. Close to 100 state and private universities and institutes as well as many research and development institutes and companies are based in St. Petersburg. Many of these organizations specialize in acoustics and audio technologies.

TECHNICAL PROGRAM

More than 55 technical papers covering most aspects of Architectural Acoustics and Sound Reinforcement have been submitted for the conference by authors from more than 15 countries. Preliminary schedule of the conference contains 13 paper sessions. Technical program and preliminary schedule are available online. Print versions of these documents are available as well.

PROCEEDINGS

A printed copy and a CD-ROM of the AES 21st International Conference Proceedings with the conference papers will be provided to each participant at registration.

OFFICIAL LANGUAGE

English is the official Conference language.

CONFERENCE VENUE AND ACCOMMODATION

The conference will be held on 1-3 June 2002 at the Hotel Moscow in St. Petersburg, Russia. Hotel Moscow is located in the end of Nevsky Prospect, the main street of St. Petersburg, next to the Alexander Nevsky Monastery (Lavra), the oldest architectural ensemble of the 18th century. The hotel is situated at the bank of the River Neva, the main waterway of the city. It is located right at the same building as "Alexander Nevsky Square" metro station, as well as close to other public transportation. The hotel is conveniently close to many attractions of the centre of the city every visitor will want to explore.

It is highly recommended to stay in the Hotel Moscow (the venue of the conference). Variety of accommodation possibilities (single and double standard rooms, renovated rooms, suites, and apartments) as well as modern facilities provided in this 3-star hotel will satisfy participants. All conference halls are located at the first floor while rooms are located at the upper floors. Price for a single room in Hotel Moscow is 110 USD per day; for a double room is 140 USD per day; breakfast included.

All delegates are recommended to arrange their accommodation as soon as possible online. Confirmation of the reservation will be sent to you from the Monomax Ltd., the conference service agent.

TECHNICAL TOURS

Technical tours are planned for the large film studio Lenfilm, the Ice Palace and its advanced sound-reinforcement systems, as well as a tour devoted to the acoustics of old Russian palaces.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Social events and tours will be arranged before, during, and after the conference for participants and accompanying persons to sample the attractions in the city and surrounding areas. For all conference participants a welcome reception, a boat trip, and a banquet are planned. A wide variety of social events for the days of the conference and other dates are offered at additional cost. You may make your choice and arrange your personal social program online.

VISAS

Please be informed that any foreigner has to get an entry visa from the Russian Embassy or the Consulate. Visa is provided considering the personalized invitation (Voucher). The last one is, in fact, only a supporting document which is to be presented to the Russian Embassy (Consulate) by delegate. The invitation (Voucher) will be sent to a delegate after receiving the personal delegate's passport information (to be mentioned in the invitation (Voucher)). Please, fill in the visa support form (see below or find at <http://www.aes.org/events/21/>) and send it to both tyurin@peterlink.ru and incentive@monomax.org to receive the invitation (Voucher). Fill in the form online, please. If you are filling in the form online, after clicking "Submit form" the form will be sent to the both addresses automatically. Please, pay attention that Voucher is NOT the Visa to enter Russia.

WEATHER IN ST. PETERSBURG

June in St. Petersburg is the most beautiful time named "White Nights" when the town is particularly fine. The sun rises around 5 a.m. and sets after 11 p.m. Day temperature is about 20 degrees of Celsius (68 Fahrenheit).

HOW TO REACH ST. PETERSBURG

There are flights to St. Petersburg from more than 30 cities in 25 countries. The Organizing Committee provides participants and accompanying persons by transportation from an airport to hotels and back. Transportation from and to the airport is included in the registration fee of the conference.
