

AES San Francisco 2008 Student Paper Competition

The AES has launched a new opportunity to recognize student members who author technical papers. The competition is based on the preprint manuscripts accepted for the AES technical program in San Francisco.

Nominees for the Student Paper Award are required to meet the following qualifications:

- (a) The paper is accepted for presentation by the papers chairs at the AES 125th Convention.
- (b) The first author is an AES student member when the work is conducted and the manuscript prepared.
- (c) The student author's affiliation listed in the manuscript is an accredited educational institution.
- (d) The student will present the lecture or poster presentation at the convention.

The nominated student papers will be judged by selected members of the AES Journal Review Board who are experts in the fields related to the topics of the individual papers.

The quality of the winning paper must meet the standard requirements of the Journal review process. No award will be given at the 125th Convention if none of the student papers are considered to meet this requirement.

If a student paper is selected to receive the award, it will be announced during the convention in San Francisco, and the student-authored manuscript will be published in a timely manner in the Journal of the Audio Engineering Society after comments from the Journal reviewers are incorporated.

If you wish to enter the competition, be sure to check the Student Paper Award box when you load your proposal on the 125th submission site.
